“THIS IS A LIVE EXERCISE”

…I am not affiliated with any political party especially since the two major parties that have a stranglehold on this nation are both bought and paid for and are completely ineffective at responding to us regular folks, otherwise known as “The People” in the US Constitution.

…Both parties have devolved with their rhetoric and have been arduously working together to block any sort of forward positive movement while throwing this nation into astronomical debt and misery. But what if I told you they planned this. They have binders with professionally created graphics and bullet points of “Lessons Learned” and how to proceed in exactly this scenario?

Well, they do.

At this point many of you have heard of Event 201. Event 201 was an exercise at the Johns Hopkins Center for Civilian Biodefense Studies that Bill and Melinda Gates sponsored in October 2019 where they role played what everyone would do if a catastrophic, deadly virus similar to Swine Flu ravaged the globe. For this exercise they created realistic film clips of TV news stories with actors visually depicting how the virus would spread and how it would most likely be handled by professionals, the media and the public while the real life attendees of doctors and nurses, politicians, the military, airline representatives and major hotel chains were there to witness and participate by offering suggestions as to how their industry would probably act. It was very academic and sterile but to liven it up they had plush toys shaped as smiling corona viruses in the gift shop for sale to commemorate the exercise.

Naturally, the United Nations when the whole Cornavirus 19 “pandemic” swung into gear used the “Lessons Learned” from Event 201 which was still fresh in the participants minds in order to contain the situation.

But Bill Gates did not come up with the idea of throwing this exercise himself. This is actually a common MARKETING practice in the government contracting world — Get your potential customers to physically act out what could happen if they did not have your services.

In fact, Event 201 was very similar to OPERATION DARK WINTER which was also thrown at Johns Hopkins, DARK WINTER was a senior-level bio-terrorist attack simulation conducted from June 22–23, 2001. This exercise was all about freaking out foreign ambassadors, US Representatives and Senators with the specter of Small Pox spreading unbridled all over the United States. The Dark Winter exercise resulted in millions of doses of a vaccine being purchased via Presidential Executive Order for a condition already declared cured by the World Health Organization.

This same sort of role play / market research happens with other aspects too. In the military they call it War Gaming. And interestingly they have been war gaming the 2020 Presidential Election in secret since at least

June 2019. Multiple military style war gaming exercises of the election have happened since. OPERATION BLACKOUT was the FBI election war game set in the fictional city of Adversaria where 911 emergency communications were compromised while surprisingly, and rather creatively, self driving cars were used to create election day mayhem among other things.

The crown jewel of the simulation /exercise was The Transition Integrity Project (TIP) Exercise featuring former top aide to President Barack Obama and President Bill Clinton's chief of staff, John Podesta of "pizzagate" fame, playing the roll of Joe Biden. Other participants included former Democratic National Committee chairwoman Donna Brazile, former Republican National Committee chairman Michael Steele and former Democratic Michigan Gov. Jennifer Granholm. The participants role-played the election aftermath of four scenarios and alarmingly, or perhaps rather predictably, every scenario except for a Biden landslide win ended in violent protests and a constitutional crisis. The Executive Summary of this event was distributed to the Pentagon and the media. It also explains why both Speaker of the House Pelosi and Joe Biden himself began showing up in the press planting the seeds that President Trump would need to be removed from the White House with military force.

Knowing that all this preparation for the election has been going on in much the same why as Operation Dark Winter and Event 201 I am certain that the election and its aftermath will follow one of the scenarios laid out in the Executive Summary of the TIP exercise and much of Washington DC knows this too. I'm imploring you not to be alarmed. Do not become emotionally invested in this simulation. It is an exercise that is going live. Please keep this in mind while the media is lambasting you with colorful election charts and maps and spinning logos attempting to artificially excite receptors in your brain.
